Automotive fuses are a class of fuses used to protect the wiring and electrical equipment for vehicles. They are generally rated for circuits no higher than 32 volts direct current, but some types are rated for 42-volt electrical systems. They are occasionally used in non-automotive electrical products.

Pre-1950 Bowling Innovations. Prior to 1950, there were really some cool bowling games that were quite innovative. For example the 1939 Bally Alley, which used a rotating ball to do a "spin out" down the lane. This concept was later revived with the 1958 United Midget Alley.) And the first version of the "ten strike" came in 1939 with Evans (this classic was revived many times until 1971.)

Fuel injection is the introduction of fuel in an internal combustion engine, most commonly automotive engines, by the means of an injector.. All diesel engines use fuel injection by design. Petrol engines can use gasoline direct injection, where the fuel is directly delivered into the combustion chamber, or indirect injection where the fuel is mixed with air before the intake stroke.

1972 models for all markets got a modified centre console incorporating a hinged arm-rest with storage space underneath. There is a plastic peg attached to the lid, and a spring clip on the base, but the way they have been installed results in frequent breakages of the plastic peg unless you are very careful to align the peg in the slot in the clip before pressing down.
