Handloading or reloading is the process of loading firearm cartridges or shotgun shells by assembling the individual components (case/hull, primer, powder, and bullet/shot), rather than purchasing completely assembled, factory-loaded ammunition. The term handloading is the more general term, as it refers to assembly of ammunition using components from any source.

NOTE: Obviously I believe that everyone interested in survival should have reloading and bullet casting equipment and supplies, plus reloading data for every cartridge normally encountered. Keeping your own rifles and handguns working - as well as those of your neighbors - would be an obvious advantage in most any survival scenario.
